In the divine womb—that is, in the sacred font—we receive divine grace as a free and entirely perfect gift. Subsequently, through the misuse of transitory things and through anxiety about the affairs of this present life, we have wrongfully covered over this supranatural splendour with the murk of the passions. Yet through repentance and the fulfillment of the deifying commandments we can uncover its surpassing radiance once more and repossess it, beholding manifestation with the utmost clarity. – Sts. Callistus and Ignatius Xanthopoulos, On the Life of Stillness and the Monastic State 6						March 2026

February 2026							The kingdom of God . . . has come and is coming in power—in the Church. This is the mystery of the Church, the mystery of the body of Christ . . . The miracle of the church assembly lies in that it is not the “sum” of the sinful and unworthy people who comprise it, but the body of Christ.							April 2026

Notes	Sunday	Monday	Tuesday
	Someone may ask, “Why do we call the baptismal font ‘the laver of regeneration’ instead of ‘the laver of the remission of sins,’ since it does that; or ‘the laver of cleansing?’” This is because Baptism is not only for the remission of our sins, and not only for our being cleansed from sins, but also for our regeneration, as if we are born again. For it indeed creates and fashions us anew, not forming us again of earth, but recreating us out of the nature of another element: water. For it does not simply wipe the vessel clean; it entirely remolds it again. – St. John Chrysosotom, First Instruction to Catechumens

	A bride seated in her bridal chamber is not as beautiful or pleasing as a soul appearing in church and exuding spiritual myrrh is marvelous and glorious. . . . Just as one constantly standing on a rock mocks the waves, so the person who enjoys the worship services continually, being watered by the divine words, and gaining a correct assessment of things as if standing on a rock, is not disturbed by human affairs, in that he is standing above the daily concerns of this life. – St. John Chrysostom, Homily on Saint Lucian

30 Hieromartyr Gregory, Equal-to-the-Apostles & Enlightener of Armenia	Immersion in water signifies death, man’s death in his total enslavement to materiality, to sin, to self-centeredness, to passions. Rising out of the water is the sign of resurrection and revival, the start of a new life in union with Christ. . . . Scattered throughout the world and among all peoples, the Church constitutes a new people of God united not by flesh and blood, not by earthly interests such as government or nation, not by language, and not even by a common historical destiny, but a people united by faith in Christ . . . On earth, man is born a member of a particular people or nation. But it is through baptism that a Christian is born and joins the new people of God. – Protopresbyter Alexander Schmemmann, Celebration of Faith, vol. 1, “I believe in one baptism for the remission of sins...”

Consider, dearly beloved and by the illumination of the Holy Spirit thoughtfully bear in mind Who it was that received us into Himself, and that we have received in us: since, as the Lord Jesus became our flesh by being born, so we also became His body by being re-born. Therefore are we both members of Christ, and the temple of the Holy Ghost. – St. Leo the Great, Sermon 23
